Niño Raymond B. Alvina
Executive Director, Bureau of Local Government Finance, Department of Finance, Philippines

Niño Raymond B. Alvina has worked on local finance projects in the Philippines, including property valuation and taxation reforms, from 2005 to 2015. He formally joined government service last year as the Bureau’s Director of Local Government Units Operations Service in charge of local treasury and assessment operations, capacity building, and project management.

Nanda Win Aung
Forest Department, Ministry of Natural Resources & Environmental Conservation, Myanmar

Nanda Win Aung is a Staff Officer with the Watershed Management Division (WMD) of the Ministry of Natural Resources and Environmental Conservation, Myanmar. He conducts watershed management projects, assists the WMD Director in international cooperation and is a member of the Myanmar REDD+ implementation core unit. He has conducted watershed management projects, assisted in environmental conservation projects and in the formulation of the National Biodiversity Strategy and Action Plan (NBSAP). He has also engaged in protected area management and illegal wildlife trade monitoring. He has a BSc in Forestry from the University of Forestry in Yezin, Myanmar and an MSc from the Institute of Technology in Karlsruhe, Germany.

Tumendelger Baljinnyam
Specialist, Research and Analysis Office, Division of Sector Development Policy and Regulation, National Development Agency, Mongolia

Uyanga Tumendelger Baljinnyam is a Specialist at the Research and Analysis Office of the National Development Agency of Mongolia. She received an MBA in Production Management from the Mongolian University of Science and Technology and an MSc in Information Management from the ChaoYang Technology University of Taiwan (ROC). She has been active in the area of business process reengineering, systems research and strategic management. Her current research involves the study of sustainable development, regional development and inter-sectoral coordination.
Andrew Bauer
Senior Economist, Natural Resources Governance Institute (NRGI)

Andrew Bauer is a Senior Economic Analyst at the Natural Resource Governance Institute (NRGI), where he provides technical advice on macroeconomic management, natural resource revenue sharing, and public financial management and accountability. He has advised government officials and parliamentarians on sovereign wealth fund and natural resource governance in more than 25 countries, including Canada, Ghana, Indonesia, Libya, Mexico, Mongolia, Myanmar, Timor-Leste and Uganda. Prior to joining NRGI, he served in the Government of Canada’s Department of Finance and worked for several governmental, private sector, academic and non-profit organizations. He holds a BA from McGill University and an MSc in Economics for Development from Oxford University.

Filipe Nery Bernardo
Coordinator, Ministry of Finance, Timor-Leste

Filipe Nery Bernardo has been working with the Ministry of Finance (MoF) in the Petroleum Fund Administration Unit (PFAU) since September 2009 and was assigned to lead the PFAU since 2010. His main responsibilities are to coordinate works related to development and implementation of the Fund’s investment strategy, monitor the performance and operational management of the Petroleum Fund and to educate stakeholders about the Petroleum Fund. In addition to this, Mr. Bernardo is also responsible for calculating the Estimated Sustainable Income (ESI) and petroleum wealth and fiscal policy issues. Mr. Bernardo is the representative of the MoF in the TL-EITI Multi-Stakeholder Group, the Secretariat of the Investment Advisory Board of the Petroleum Fund and at the International Forum for Sovereign Wealth Funds (IFSWF). Mr. Bernardo received an MBA from Monash University, Australia and a Bachelor in Accounting from Atma Jaya Yogyakarta University, Indonesia.

Seonmi Choi
Regional Advisor, UNDP-UNEP Poverty-Environment Initiative (PEI)

Seonmi is currently a Regional Advisor of the joint UNEP-UNDP Poverty Environment Initiative at the UNEP Regional Office for Asia-Pacific. Prior to this, she worked at the UNDP HQ and Regional Service Centre in Addis Ababa as a policy specialist on inclusive green economy and climate change in Africa. Before joining the UN system, she worked for the Presidential Commission on Sustainable Development of the Government of the Republic of Korea and multi-lateral development agencies in Europe and West Africa. Seonmi has over 10 years’ professional experience with the UN, government, private and non-governmental organizations in the areas of climate change, poverty-environment nexus and sustainable development. She holds a Master’s Degree from Sciences-Po Paris with a specialization on international organisations and development.
Paul Cleary
Journalist and Author

Paul is a senior writer at Australia’s national daily, The Australian, where he specialises in covering economics and resources. He is the author of five non-fiction books, the most recent being Trillion Dollar Baby, a history of Norwegian oil. He previously served as an adviser to the government of Timor-Leste on a range of resource-related issues. He speaks Tetum and Vietnamese.

Masuma Farooki
Senior Resources Policy Consultant, SNL Metals and Mining

Masuma is the Head of the Metals & Mining Consulting unit at SNL Financial Ltd (UK). She is a development economist, working on commodity related issues for developing and advanced countries. Her current focus is on the socio-economic impact of the mining industry, with a particular interest in the capture and distribution of resource rents, the development of linkages and the preparation of investment promotion strategies for the state. Her work involves analysis of global value chains, industrial, trade policies and mineral policies. She works with public and private sector clients, as well as international development partners.

Sheng Fulai
Head of the Research and Partnerships Unit, Economics and Trade Branch, Economy Division, UN Environment

Sheng Fulai is the Head of the Economic Research Unit at the Economics and Trade Branch of UNEP in Geneva. He designed and managed the implementation of UNEP's Green Economy Initiative launched in 2008. He is the coordinator of the UNEP report “Towards a green economy” and the UN inter-agency report “Working towards a balanced, inclusive green economy”, both published in late 2011. His areas of expertise include integrated public policymaking, international payments for ecosystem services, and integrated economic and environmental accounting. Fulai holds a Masters degree in economics from the Shanghai University of Finance and Economics. Prior to joining UNEP in 2005, for over twenty years, he had served the Chinese Ministry of Finance, the World Bank, the World Wide Fund for Nature, and Conservation International.
Uyanga Gankhuyag
Programme Specialist on Extractive Industries, UN Development Programme

Uyanga Gankhuyag is a Programme Specialist/Economist on Extractive Industries in the UNDP Bangkok Regional Hub. She had previously served in UNDP HQ in New York and in the UNDP office in Mongolia. She conducts research and advises on programmes related to fiscal, employment, social and environmental issues in resource-rich countries in the Asia Pacific region. Uyanga has also served in Mongolia on economic development, fiscal and financial policies and microfinance in various organizations such as USAID, the World Bank, the Prime Minister’s Office and the Central Bank.

Stefan Helming
Country Director, Deutsche Gesellschaft für Internationale Zusammenarbeit (GIZ)

Stefan Helming is the Country Director of GIZ Thailand. Prior to this position, he was GIZ Programme Director of Innovation Centers for Agriculture and Food in 2015 and Country Director of GIZ India during 2010 – 2014. With his educational background in economics and international development, Mr. Helming brings more than 30 years of development cooperation and leadership experiences. He first joined the GTZ (previous name of GIZ) in 1982 as a Project Assistant in Somalia and later held various leading positions for partnership with Africa, Middle East and Asia. This includes Director of Corporate Policy Department and Department of North Africa and Middle East in GTZ head office in Eschborn. His career was equally divided between the field and head office. From 2003 to 2006, he was Deputy Director General of Planning and Development before heading the GTZ International Services in Ethiopia, which was the largest Programme for GTZ IS.

Sony Kapoor
Director, Re-Define International Think Tank

Sony Kapoor is the Director of the international think tank Re-Define and CEO of Court Jesters Consulting. He is an economist, financial sector expert and development practitioner who advises multilateral organisations, investors, European and emerging economies on economic and financial policy and several large long-term investors on investment strategy. Until recently, he held a multidisciplinary role at the London School of Economics (LSE) as a Senior Visiting Fellow at the Development and Government Departments and a Strategy Adviser to its Systemic Risk Centre. He is a member of the World Economic Forum's Global Agenda Council on the Future of Asset Management and Insurance.
Joy Kim
Senior Economic Affairs Officer, Economy Division, UN Environment

Dr. Joy A. Kim has been working in the area of macro-economic and environmental policies for nearly 20 years. In particular she has been focusing on the interface between fiscal policy, trade policy and green economy policy. She is currently leading a project on 'fiscal policy and the green economy' at UNEP and serves as co-chair of the Fiscal Instruments Research Committee of the Green Growth Knowledge Platform (GGKP). Before joining UNEP, she worked as an economist/senior policy analyst at the Environment as well as the Trade/Agriculture Directorates of the Organisation for Economic Cooperation and Development (OECD) in Paris; a research associate at the United Nations University Institute of Advanced Studies (UNU-IAS) in Tokyo; Visiting Professor at the Aoyamagakuin University in Tokyo; PhD researcher at the Tyndall Centre for Climate Change Research in the UK; and Assistant researcher at the Korea Institute for International Economic Policy in Seoul. She holds a doctoral degree from the University of East Anglia in the UK.

Harald Küppers
Head of Good Financial Governance Programme, Deutsche Gesellschaft für Internationale Zusammenarbeit (GIZ)

Harald Küppers has academic degrees in political science and public administration. He has been working since 1998 for GIZ and currently is the team leader of the global sector program Good Financial Governance in Bonn, Germany. Between 2010 and 2014, he was a Senior advisor and team leader in the Good Financial Governance program in Ghana. The program cooperated inter alia with the Ghanaian Ministry of Finance, the Ghana Audit Service, the GHEITI-Secretariat and stakeholders in the Petroleum Revenue Management.

Seung Min Lee
Financial Sector Specialist, Public Management, Financial Sector and Regional Cooperation Division, EARD, Asian Development Bank

As a Financial Sector Specialist, Mr. Seung-Min Lee supports ADB’s financial sector development operation in the People’s Republic of China (PRC) and Mongolia. He leads several projects on microfinance, SME finance, climate change finance, and capital market developments. He also leads a PRC non-sovereign loan project to promote SME finance and supports sovereign loan projects in agricultural finance, green finance, and regional cooperation. Prior to this, Seung-Min was engaged in ADB’s consultancy assignments including Lao-Thai cross-border bond issuance project and ADB’s Financial Sector Operational Plan preparation. He also worked in Kookmin Bank in Seoul as a fixed income portfolio and fund manager. Seung Min attended Cornell University for his MBA and Korea University for his BS in Political Science and International Relations.
Oana Luca
Economist, Tax Policy Division, Fiscal Affairs Department, IMF

Oana Luca is an Economist in the Tax Policy Division of the Fiscal Affairs Department at the IMF. She specializes in extractive industries taxation, the fiscal modelling and analysis of mining and petroleum, and resource revenue forecasting and management. Oana has worked on a number of resource-rich countries in Africa, Europe and Asia. Prior to joining the IMF in 2009, she was part of the Development Economics group at the World Bank and responsible for the regional macroeconomic outlook for Eastern Europe and Central Asia. Ms. Luca is a graduate of the Johns Hopkins University’s School of Advanced International Studies (SAIS).

Nitya Nanda
Fellow, Centre for Global Agreements, Legislation and Trade, The Energy and Resources Institute (TERI), New Delhi

Nitya Nanda is a Fellow with the Centre for Global Agreements, Legislation and Trade at The Energy and Resources Institute (TERI), New Delhi and an adjunct faculty with Teri University, New Delhi. Nitya has about two decades of experience in research, consulting and teaching on industry, trade, investment, energy, resources and environment policies. He has been the lead researcher of projects spanning different countries in Asia and Africa and carried out substantial work on minerals and resource policy issues in national and global context. He has published a number of articles/papers on these issues in professional/peer-reviewed journals and edited volumes. He has authored/edited several reports and a few books/monographs. He is also the editor of TERI’s flagship publication, Journal of Resources, Energy and Development.

Aneta Nikolova
Environment Affairs Officer, Environment and Development Policy Section, UNESCAP

Aneta Nikolova leads UNESCAP’s regional green growth capacity development programme to support policy makers from developing countries and countries with economies in transition in the Asian and Pacific Region to develop and implement innovative economic growth strategies aimed at improving resource and eco-efficiency of the economy and creating investments in poverty reduction and welfare programmes. She has rich professional experience in sustainable development policy analysis, development and advocacy, as well as capacity development, institutional strengthening and technical assistance to developing countries and countries with economies in transition in Europe, Africa, and Asia and the Pacific. Ms. Nikolova has a broad educational background with degrees in Scientific Information Management, Hydrogeology and Engineering Geology (Engineer) and European Politics and Administration.
Ian Parry
Principal Environmental Fiscal Policy Expert, Fiscal Affairs Department, International Monetary Fund (IMF)

Ian Parry is the Principal Environmental Fiscal Policy Expert in the International Monetary Fund’s (IMF) Fiscal Affairs Department, where he specializes in fiscal analysis of climate change, environment and energy issues since 2010. Before joining the IMF, Mr Parry was the first appointee to the Allen V. Kneese Chair in Environmental Economics at Resources for the Future. Currently, Mr Parry’s research focuses on developing analytical models to quantify the economic impacts and efficient levels of environmental, energy and transportation policies. Mr Parry has a PhD in economics from the University of Chicago. He has published over fifty papers in professional journals.

Soukvina Philavanh
Researcher, National Economic Research Institute (NERI), Lao PDR

Soukvina is a researcher in the Strategy and Master Plan development research division of NERI (National Economic Research Institute). She has worked as lecturer for provincial and district officials on various topics, conducted research related to the Lao economy and socio economic development, reviewed the national master plan of social economic development and worked as partner to UNDP Lao to implement the PEI (Poverty and Environment Initiative) project. She was involved in the 2015-2016 study on The Impact of Mining Operations on SMEs Development and Community Livelihoods in Lao PDR by NERI, UNDP and UNEP. She has a BA from the National University of Laos and Thipvaly College, Laos and a MBA from Delhi University, India.

Detlef Schreiber
Head of Section - Environmental Policy, Deutsche Gesellschaft für Internationale Zusammenarbeit (GIZ)

Dr. Detlef Schreiber is the Head of Section Environmental Policy at GIZ. He has more than 30 years of experience in the area of environmental policy, climate, geosciences and resource management in Germany / Europe, North Africa, the Middle East, Asia, and Latin America. From 2001-2007 he was senior advisor in the Technical Cooperation project “Competitiveness and Environment”, MERCOSUR-Germany. From 2008-2015, he was the Head of Competence Centre Environmental Policy, Resource Efficiency and Waste Management at GIZ where his work focused on international cooperation with developing countries and emerging economies on green economy, environmental economics, resource efficiency and related issues.
Nurul Huda Bin Romli
Principal Assistant Director of Mineral Economics Section, Department of Minerals and Geoscience, Malaysia

Mr Romli joined the Department of Mines in April 1999 where he served as Assistant Director of Mines for the Sabah and Sarawak Zone. In 2000, he was posted to the newly formed Department of Minerals and Geoscience (DMG) as Assistant Director in charge of the mines and quarry unit. He was posted as Senior Mines Officer and Deputy Director (Mines and Quarry) in various states in Malaysia. Throughout his career with the government, he has contributed to improving the mining and quarrying industry. He was a member of the team drafting the policy, laws and regulations related to the mining and quarrying industry. He has a BEng (Mineral Resources) from the University of Science, Malaysia and an MSc (Occupational Safety and Health) from the University of New South Wales, Australia.

Perrine Toledano
Head - Extractive Industries, Columbia Centre for Sustainable Investment (CCSI)

Perrine leads the CCSI’s focus on extractive industries and sustainable development. She leads research, training and advisory projects for governments on fiscal regimes, financial modelling, leveraging extractive industry investments in rail, port, telecommunications, water and energy infrastructure for broader development needs, local content, revenue management, and optimal legal provisions for development benefits. Perrine also co-developed and taught a master-level course on Extractives and Sustainable Development at Columbia University. Prior to joining CCSI, she was a consultant for several non-profit organizations, including the World Bank, DFID and Revenue Watch Institute, and private sector companies, including Natixis Corporate Investment Bank and Ernst and Young. She has a Masters of Business Administration from ESSEC in Paris, France, and a Masters of Public Administration from Columbia University.

Sirini Withana
Consultant, Economy Division, UN Environment

Sirini Withana has nearly ten years of experience in the environment and sustainable development area, with a focus on green economy and green fiscal policies at the national, European and international levels. At UNEP, Sirini supports the development of studies on fiscal policies for the green economy and manages the Green Fiscal Policy Network. Before joining UNEP, Sirini worked as a Senior Policy Analyst at the Institute for European Environmental Policy (IEEP) in London and Brussels where she co-led work streams on green fiscal reform and global environmental issues. She also worked as an EU and International Relations Coordinator at the Environment Agency for England and Wales in London. She holds a Master of Science degree in International and European Politics from the University of Edinburgh, and a Bachelor of Business Science degree in the field of Economics from the University of Cape Town.
Xinye Zheng
Professor, School of Economics, Renmin University, China

Professor Zheng joined the School of Economics, Renmin University of China in 2006 after he received his PhD in Economics, at Georgia State University, Georgia, USA in the same year. He is the Associate Dean of School of Economics and Chair of Energy Economics Department, Renmin University of China. Professor Zheng’s research interests are Energy Economics and Public Finance. He has published peer-reviewed papers in international journals such as Energy Economics, China Economic Review, Environmental and Development Economics, Energy Policy, Regional Environmental Change, etc. His current research focuses on the Chinese fiscal reform and building OBOR-related international organizations. Professor Zheng also serves as non-residential Fellow at Brookings Institution.